

Fraser Specialty Products has been one of North America's foremost suppliers of quality wood siding and cedar shingles for more than 15 years. With our F-Shingle™ product line, we provide a full range of cedar shingles manufactured from Eastern White or Western Red cedar, an extremely durable wood that offers natural insulation and protection properties that surpass other siding materials.

Nothing can match the natural beauty of a silver gray cedar shingle. But left to nature, this delightful weathered look can take years of harsh exposure to the sun and moisture. Through our long and successful association with Cabot®, we'll accelerate nature's own weathering process and provide additional protection from the elements with Cabot Bleaching Oil™. In as little as six months, your shingles will turn a beautiful, natural driftwood gray, giving your home that weathered look you've always wanted, in a fraction of the time.

Reduced installation time

Our cedar shingles are produced to exacting standards that include resquaring and rebutting, which eliminates costly trimming work at installation.

Kiln dried to optimal moisture levels

Your shingles need to last a lifetime, so we kiln dry our F-Shingle product to ideal moisture levels in our state-of-the-art dehumidification kiln to minimize the risk of cracking and bending.

The ultimate shingle protection program

Cedar is a durable wood with natural protection qualities.

The in-plant application of Cabot Bleaching Oil on all six sides of the shingle produces a self-protecting finish that achieves a uniform look in only 6 to 12 months.

Manufactured to your specifications

Whether you prefer fish scale or round, diagonal or diamond, we've got a range of stylish and elegant designs to meet any architectural or aesthetic design.

No more delays—shingles are ready to install

With F-Shingle, you eliminate expensive and irritating painting delays.

No more scheduling or weather-related issues, no overspray, dripping, splattering or clean-up problems. Your project will look finished immediately.
